The Traitor's Howl

We quote below a specimen of copperhead ranting upon the occasion of Weller's arrest. It is from the Marysville Express, and is characteristic of the vile sheet in which it appears. The threat with which the quotation starts out sounds somewhat like a whine, deriving that peculiarity from a sense of personal insecurity. If the Express man does not follow Weller to Alcatraz shortly it will be because he does not receive the first instalment of justice. It is high time these infernal traitors were made to shut their mouths. This system of inciting the ignorant portion of the Democratic party to deeds of murder and perhaps worse should be stopped at all hazards. If any members of this community have to suffer let it be the lying vagabonds who exhale their treason, girdled by falsehood, and prate of danger to civil liberty. Here is the extract:

> General McDowell has inaugurated his administration in a manner which bodes no good for this coast. He seems to have surrendered himself into the hands of the fanatics who strove in vain to swerve General Wright from his sense of duty and propriety. Coming to this coast a stranger, without an accurate knowledge of the true condition of affairs here, he should have acted with great caution and with the utmost regard for individual rights. We regret to say that he has not done it, and, as a public journalist, we feel that it is our duty to enter our solemn protest against his high-handed measures. The last of them is the arrest of Mr. Charles L. Weller of San Francisco and his incarceration in Fort Alcatraz. The apology for this outrage is, that in a public meeting he expressed his opinion that Democrats ought to arm themselves to defend the freedom of the ballot box, if necessary. We suppose Mr. Weller did make the remarks attributed to him. We suppose he did counsel the organization of secret societies among Democrats. Had he not a perfect right to do so? Let us see. By referring to the Second Article of Amendments to the Constitution these words will be found: "The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." This Constitutional provision is as plain as language can make it. Now, if the people have a right to bear and keep arms, what offense did Mr. Weller commit in advising them to exercise that right?

This vile traitor says that the Democratic party have a right in the Constitution to keep and bear arms. He is so false to every principle of constitutional liberty that he will not quote it correctly, but quotes just enough to suit his purpose, and urge a lie. Article II of Amendments to the Constitution reads as follows:

> A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

Now, if these secret organizations of armed traitors are "a well regulated militia," or if they are "necessary to the security of a free State," then they are authorized by the Constitution to "keep and bear arms," but not otherwise. A well regulated militia must be formed and controlled by the legally constituted authorities of a State, and none other can come under that head within the meaning of the article. The Constitution contains no word, sentence or paragraph authorizing or justifying any such banding together and arming as these lying rebel advocates, and they know it.

THE PUBLIC DEBT.—The following is a correct statement of the National debt, as appears from the books, Treasurer's returns and requisitions in the Treasurer's Department on the 28th of June 1864:

Debt interest payable in coin	$800,471,788 45
Debt interest payable in currency	[illegible],328,665 20
Debt on which interest has ceased	370,170 00
Debt bearing no interest	466,806,005 70
Total	$1,[illegible],030,680 53

The annual interest on the outstanding debt on June 28, payable in gold was $52,021,845 54, interest payable in currency, $21,652,315 68, making the total annual interest on the whole debt at that time, $73,707,159 22. The account of fractional currency outstanding was $22,210,134 70, and the unpaid requisitions amounted to $602,620. The amount in the Treasury was $11,756,986 10.

FROM CAPT OLNEY'S COMMAND.—A letter from Capt Olney, dated on Bridge Creek, July 29th, states that he had reported to Capt Caldwell, and been ordered to remain in the camp whence he writes until mules are provided for packing his provisions and ammunition while hunting for Indians. Some Indian sign had already been discovered in his vicinity, and he had dispatched a squad to make a reconnoissance. The writer was to leave the next day for Canyon City to raise by subscription enough to pay what was still due on the cost of fitting out the expedition.

EDITORIAL CHANGE.—In the Pacific Christian Advocate of this week appears the valedictory of Rev Thomas H. Pearne who, since the first number and during a period of nearly nine years has conducted that journal with marked ability and success. In his retirement from that responsible position, we wish him a life of equal usefulness, as the purest aspiration of a christian. Rev Prof H. C. Benson succeeds Mr. Pearne in the editorial chair.

The Boston correspondent of the Sacramento Union says that Brigadier General Francis Fessenden, son of Senator Fessenden, was promoted to his present rank recently, for services in Banks' campaign. He lost one leg and is at home on a furlough. He is only twenty five years of age.

The Jacksonville Intelligencer proposes to issue daily, providing an additional compositor can be found who will take steady employment. It would take a pretty tough journeyman to work steadily on such a conduit of treason.

DISCHARGED.—Bishop Kavanaugh of the M. E. Church South, recently arrested by order of Gen McDowell for treasonable utterance, has been discharged from custody after taking the oath of allegiance.

DEATH OF GEO. P. MORRIS.—This eminent American poet and journalist died on the [illegible] inst., aged 62 years.

HEAVIEST DEPOSITS EVER MADE.—Yesterday no less than 111 deposits of gold for coinage were made at the United States Branch Mint in San Francisco, the aggregate amount of precious metal being 14,000 ounces, worth little if any less than $250,000. All this wealth came from Idaho or Washington Territory, and was brought down on the [illegible] on Friday evening. This is the largest number of depositors at our Branch Mint in any one day since its establishment.—S. F. [illegible]

SPECIAL DISPATCH [illegible]

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to August 4.

WASHINGTON, August 3.—The total amount subscribed to the 7 30 loan is reported to day at the Treasury Department at $1[illegible]9,000.

It is generally understood that the bulk of [illegible] in the Shenandoah Valley is 3,000 strong. [illegible] movements being made to make him change his [illegible] tion.

CINCINNATI, August 4.—[illegible] Army of the Potomac [illegible] a big [illegible] officers [illegible] 600. The explosion [illegible] was 50 feet long and [illegible].

The [illegible] Chambersburg [illegible] dated the [illegible] says: A large fire in a northwesterly direction is distinctly to be seen from that point. It is supposed to be the Big Pond furnace. The whereabouts of the rebels is unknown.

MEMPHIS, August 1.—The Jackson Mississippian of July [illegible] says: All communication with Atlanta is cut off.

Gen Washburne is organizing an expedition of an important nature, which is to be commanded by Gen A. J. Smith.

Guerrillas continue their depredations on plantations in vicinity of Vicksburg and Natchez.

CINCINNATI, August 4.—A special from Nashville to the Gazette says that officers from the front report the following as the result of Stoneman's raid on the Macon railroad:

Stoneman's force consisted of Gen McCook's division of cavalry, composed of [illegible] and [illegible] brigade. The Macon road was torn up and the railroad ties were burned for 18 miles. [illegible] is a complete wreck. On returning McCook fell in with a large wagon train on which [illegible] much private property and all of Hood's papers. This was near Newnan. A quantity of whisky was captured and here is where the trouble began. The rebel Gen Rains, who was in pursuit, came up with McCook, a fight ensued and McCook was routed. About 500 of his command reached Marietta, who report the surrender of the main body. Only two hundred strong [illegible] McCook was killed.

The World's Washington special says that a rebel officer who deserted from Early reports a cavalry force operating in the valley and along the river under Bradley Johnson and McCausland.

Early says he has determined to hold the valley at all hazards, and has a force from 30,000 to 40,000 strong engaged in threshing wheat. He takes every tenth bushel besides levying a tax for the labor performed.

VICKSBURG, Aug 2.—The sending of the 19th corps to the Army of the Potomac will probably oblige Gen Canby to suspend offensive operations for the present, and efforts will be directed mainly to holding our own.

By recent arrivals from the Upper Red River, we learn that Missouri is much talked of by rebel officers as a point of attack, and that at least 20,000 recruits are promised them there. Canby is now sending considerable force to Arkansas, with a view to counteract the rebel designs.

LOUISVILLE, Aug [illegible].—To day the Nashville Union says: Apparently well authenticated but unofficial information has been received that Stoneman has not only cut the Macon Railroad but defeated Wheeler with a loss of 500 to 1,000 men at Proctor's Creek. The rebel leader was wounded and fell into our hands.

CHICAGO, August 3.—The details of the late engagement before Petersburg have been received, from which we condense the following: The first attacking column, composed of the 1st and 2d brigades of Ledlie's division, followed by the [illegible] Massachusetts, with intrenching implements, pushed forward to the charge. They had moved but a few yards, however, when they received a tremendous volley from the enemy, who doubtless had been put on the alert through the noise made by the concentration of our troops and the movements of the artillery and teams during the night, so close to their front. Although the explosion had destroyed the rebel redan, it had not removed the abatis obstructions in front and the assailants had great trouble in working their way through them.

A part of the attacking column advanced for some distance to the right of the fort and carried a part of two lines of breastworks, connecting the fort with the main rebel line to the rear of it. About 250 prisoners were captured in the intrenchments and riflepits and sent to the rear. As soon as our troops reached the works, the enemy commenced a heavy musketry fire from two sides of an angle which their breastworks formed. In the rear of the fort several batteries opened with shell, grape and shot. Notwithstanding the tremendous fire against the rebel line by our heavy batteries, the enemy's fire became so intensified, the advance of our column towards Cemetery Hill, about 400 yards beyond the fort, which they were ordered to carry, was checked. Our troops sought refuge behind the ruins of the breastworks and riflepits.

Two minutes after Ledlies' division moved to the attack, Potter's and Willcox's divisions of the same corps moved to the right and left of the works, and several attempts were made to continue the assault, but all failed under the sweeping fire of the enemy. About six o'clock one of Ferrero's colored divisions was ordered to move forward to the right of the fort upon Cemetery Hill, and advanced steadily until they got under the enfilading fire of the enemy when instead of keeping to the right of other divisions the blacks got confused and rushed pell mell among the other troops in and about the fort. The interior of the fort after the explosion had the appearance of a crater, the upper part being about 60 feet in diameter. It was already crowded from top to bottom with troops. The negroes rushed in from all sides in terror and confusion. The enemy in the meantime, as could be seen from our main line, rapidly moved forces from their right and left to the threatened part of the line about the fort. Now both the infantry and artillery fire became more severe. Again and again they made attempts to charge from the front but their troops could not do it.

Small parties commenced trying to run back from the fort to our main line, and gradually became more and more numerous. Quite a number of them managed to get through. The distance was about 150 yards. The men in running back had to cross a field which was swept by the rebel's fire. Hundreds of them were killed and wounded. The enemy perceiving the confused condition of our troops resorted to an offensive advance several times, but were driven back by our fire. About 10 o'clock when most of the batteries ceased firing the enemy made a grand charge and occupied the most of the ground in the rear of the fort. No sooner had their yells and volleys announced their charge than a vast swarm of our men mostly negroes were seen rushing out from under cover toward our lines. Half of these were shot down.

In giving the order of attack the 9th corps was massed on the east and the 5th and 18th on its right with the 2d corps in reserve. When it was ascertained about 7 o'clock that the 9th corps was not making any headway, Potter's and Turner's divisions pushed forward and gained a position as far advanced as that held by the 9th corps, but this had no decisive effect. The numbers of both corps in and about the fort became materially reduced by 10 o'clock and the men were falling back to our main line. What remained continued to hold the position until about 11 o'clock when orders were issued to fall back to their original position. The order was executed promptly except in one part of the rebel fort, efforts were made to get orders to them but several officers in attempting to carry them were shot down. Shortly afterwards the rebels made another charge which partly succeeded.

Gen Sheridan moved past the rear of our army to the southward in the course of the afternoon to carry out his part of the programme and attack Petersburg from the west and southwest. His orders were modified during the afternoon.

Freedman's Relief Association

SALEM, Aug 1, 1864.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

An address was delivered last evening at the Methodist Church in this place, by Mr. C. H. Brackett, in behalf of the Oregon Freedman's Relief Association, which was extremely well received by a large audience.

The address was able and eloquent. Mr. Brackett discussed the position of the refugees both white and black and referred to the number now in the service of the Government, of their value as soldiers and their probable use in future years. He referred to the public sentiment in the eastern States, to the relief extended to the colored people who are passing within our military lines and to the number of white refugees continually demanding and receiving aid.

An association was formed auxiliary to the State organization and another meeting called, which will be held next month.

Mr. Brackett has made an extended tour through the State, having made addresses at Hillsboro, Forest Grove, McMinnville, Bethel, Dallas, Monmouth, Lancaster, Eugene City, Harrisburg, Brownsville, Albany and Jefferson, and has been doing good service to the cause. M.

FROM BOISE.—The Boise News of July 20th has the following:

Owen Martin, a native of East Toledo, Ohio, about 30 years of age, was killed by the caving in of a bank in the hydraulic claims of Christie & Co. at the point of Gold Hill.

Seven divorce cases were granted by the District Court up to the time of going to press at Idaho City, July term.

Some 24 horses were stolen lately from South Boise. Wm Tenant, John Dunn and two others followed, overtook them near Fort Hall and returned with the horses, a lot of mining deeds, likenesses, &c., taken from the camp, but without the thieves. What became of them, we have not learned.

The Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue collected in Boise county $11,[illegible] 63. Of this amount Idaho City paid $6,062 72.

To allow the Governor sufficient time to perform the work of re-apportionment, the Territorial election is postponed until the second Monday in October.

Mr. Riley Ray was thrown from a horse and died from concussion of the brain in Alturas county July 20th. He leaves a wife and family in Linn county, Oregon.

A Union Convention was held at Packer John Ranch, July 23d, to take steps for the calling of a Union Territorial Convention. Three counties were represented—Nez Perces, Idaho and Boise.

THE TRI WEEKLY STATESMAN.—Through the politeness of Mr. Calaro, of Boise City, we have received the first number of a spicy little sheet with the above title, which made its debut on the 26th of July. It presents a neat appearance typographically, and its editorial is able and patriotic. We wish the editor and publishers, Jas. S. Reynolds & Co., success in their enterprise. From the Statesman we glean as follows:

Several families formerly of Iowa and Wisconsin having resided on this side two years, are now on their way back overland.

The Union men of Boise, Owyhee and Alturas counties, met at Centreville on the 16th and nominated A. G. Turner for Delegate to Congress and John S. Gray for District Attorney. After appointing a Territorial Central Committee, the Convention adjourned.

The Statesman says the finest fields of grain and vegetables ever raised north of San Jose are now standing in Boise. The editor has been presented with oats 7 feet 3 inches in length,—pretty long straws.

The people of Boise are still waiting patiently for the overland stage.

The Democratic Territorial Convention that met at Packer John's on the 12th inst, ratified the nominations and platform of the Democratic Convention held at Idaho City on the 4th ult.

The following, recently issued by Gen McDowell, speaks for itself:

FAST DAY OBSERVANCE.—Our city was very generally observant of the Proclamation of President Lincoln, in a suspension of business and attendance at their several places of worship on Thursday, and in the evening a meeting of the members of the different churches was held at the M E Church, where appropriate services were had preparatory to the formation of a branch of the National Christian Commission. Addresses were made by Rev. Thos H Pearne and Rev. Geo H Atkinson. Patriotic songs were sung and a collection was taken up, amounting to $242 90 in coin and $24 in currency—making when reduced to currency over $725. This collection has been deposited with Ladd & Tilton, bankers, who will forward it to its destination.

THE FIRST BRICK.—Capt J C Ainsworth yesterday showed the first brick from the crushing quartz by the Ainsworth Mill at the Owyhee district, which commenced operations on the 17th of last month. The Superintendent writes that they would shortly crush from twenty-two to thirty tons of the rock daily, and very soon we may expect an increase in our bullion receipts from that section. The mill is at present run by water, but a steam engine is on the way to supply the power for it, which will increase the facilities materially, as water is scarce. The brick exhibited to us was about the size of a dime and looks very pure. It will no doubt be kept as a memento of the [illegible]. A recent assay of the ore, from which this was taken, the Coast and Dryer, made by [illegible] Crittenden, of Ruby City, shows the value to be $2 [illegible] 19 to the ton.

A MODEL OF MARINE ARCHITECTURE.—We have been shown a miniature ship, which is the most beautiful model of marine architecture that we have ever seen. It was recently presented to Capt J B H Couch, of this city, by Mr. [illegible], first officer of the bark Jane A Falkinburg, one of the [illegible] ets. The work on this exquisite ship has been all performed at sea, at odd times, and is very perfect, even to the rattling down of the rigging, the glass windows in the galley, and the new patent windlass for ships. The boats, supplied and belonging to a vessel of that description, are presented in the miniature ship hanging in the davits, the anchors are cock billed and have apparently from seven to fifteen fathoms range of chain. As it was about the vessel is just approaching a wharf. The name of the little craft, "[illegible]," appears on each side of the quarter, and the American flag floats from the peak. The whole is neatly encased in glass and is a handsome token of the respect of a young sailor, for one who beat against the breakers years ago.

A REPORTER'S DUTIES.—"Why didn't you make some notice of our meeting to night in the paper." This question is very frequently asked us by some one, and we desire to reply once for all. Local reporters are not ubiquitous or omniscient as the suppose, and they can only report such things as may come to their knowledge. It a public meeting or privately agreed upon, those who are interested in having it known, should take the trouble to inform us on the subject. We take much pleasure in calling attention to any movement of public interest provided that the items are legitimately placed in our possession.

LOST HIS PROVISION.—A man passed up First street last evening considerably under the influence of "tangle foot," with a bundle of provisions in his arms undoubtedly on his way home, but when near Jefferson street he "petered" and sat down upon the side walk to rest. He soon returned to the grog establishment, to renew his devotion to his cups, leaving his provision in the street. After the lapse of some time a good lady in the vicinity took the parcel into her house, out of harm's way, and had she known where the children were (if any) who were crying for that bread, she might have gone and fed them, while the father reveled with his boon companions. Such is life.

A NEW INVENTION.—A new invention, for the crushing of quartz rock, has been attracting considerable attention in this city some days past, and we had hoped to see it in operation, before it passed on to the upper country, but the proprietor forwarded it by the steamer yesterday morning. From the partial description we have received of this machine our opinion is that its simplicity and effectiveness will work wonders in quartz mining operations. It is known as the Howell Crusher, and the present sample will be accompanied to the mining regions by Messrs Simms & Hannay.

ACCIDENT.—A man engaged in painting a new building, corner of Alder and Second streets, narrowly escaped a dangerous descent yesterday by an unusual nerve, which enabled him to cling to the eave of the house until a ladder could be elevated for him to climb upon. He had rather unceremoniously been deprived of the ladder he was using by its falling, and had managed to save himself by catching the shingles of the roof. No further damage was done than the upsetting of the paint bucket.

THE CHRISTIAN COMMISSION.—A meeting of all those favorable to this noble enterprise will be held in the M. E. Church, on Tuesday evening next, for the purpose of organizing a branch association in Portland. This movement is in a direction worthy the best endeavors and highest impulses of a christian community, and we hope that the house will be filled to overflowing.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Mrs. Ah Fee or some other frail daughter of the flowery land fell a victim of the law, and was arrested for conducting herself in a boisterous manner on the streets Thursday evening. After lying in the city jail one night she was taken before the Recorder, when the case was disposed of by a fine of $10 and costs, which was paid and the erring Celestial dame departed.

MUSIC ON THE PLAZA.—The Mechanics Brass Band were out on the Plaza, in their best good humor, Thursday evening, and discoursed music to our citizens in charming strains for several hours. It partook much the form of Metropolitan life and reminded one of Parks Bands and cities far to the East of this.

SALE OF HUMPEY.—The raffle for Mr. Sutton's celebrated pacing horse, Humpey, will take place at the Shooting Gallery on Morrison street, this evening. Who ever shall be the lucky winner may congratulate himself on having several fast prides and drives, as the animal is adapted to "going" on a double quick scale.

FREEDMAN'S RELIEF.—The Oregon Freedman's Relief Association will hold a meeting at the Congregational Church, in this city, on Monday evening next. Gov Gibbs is expected to preside, and addresses will be made by Rev Mr Marsh, J H Mitchell, Esq, C H Brackett, and others.

THE STEAMER RESCUE.—This new steamer will appear in boat trim than ever on Monday next, in resuming trips to Monticello, having been considerably improved during her short lay up by a removal of the upper works. She is much better calculated for the trade now than when first built.

ARRIVAL.—The schooner Dart's arrival on Thursday from West Mills with a cargo of lumber for the Portland ship yard. She has been employed for some time past in boating hay from Oregon to Washington Territory in the vicinity of Oak Point for the cattle of a lumbering camp.

APPEARANCE OF RAIN.—The skies indicated rain yesterday, and the cooling breeze turned summer coats aside, but we had only the indications up to the hour of our going to press. It is not usual for us to have much rain in this vicinity at the present season of the year.

THE COMING STEAMER.—By a San Francisco dispatch received at this office yesterday we learn that the steamship Pacific, A M Burns commander will sail on Tuesday the 9th inst for Portland.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Turn Verein Association will be held at their hall on Second street to morrow.

SANITARY FUND RECEIPTS.—From Mrs Henry Law Treasurer of the Portland Ladies Sanitary Aid Society $171 in coin, and $12 in currency. A HOLBROOK

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

PORTLAND, Friday August 5th, 1864

The jobbing department of the Portland market has been dull in the extreme for the past week, and the limited supply of country produce received during that time makes a difference in the amounts on hand, but does not seem to affect prices.

Wheat [illegible] to day at the ruling figures of the past month $1 per bush, the demand being principally for mill[illegible] and the amounts offered are small.

Country brands of flour find ready sale from wagons at from $4 50 to $5 per bbl [illegible]

Oats and other grains remain [illegible] with but little offering.

Richards & McCraken [illegible] furnished the Quartermaster at Fort Vancouver with [illegible] the present week at prices agreeing with our wholesale rates.

We observe by San Francisco papers that 4000 qr sacks of Oregon flour ex steamer Pacific had arrived there and been placed above the price of California standard brands [illegible] same line.

The Fruit and Vegetable market is quite well supplied at present with such staple products of the Valley. Peaches rule high. Apples command 75c to $1 per bush.

Wool has been a more active demand for the week.

The following is the state of the San Francisco market at last accounts:

WEDNESDAY July 27th.—Flour is decidedly high [illegible] brands of Oregon extra readily command $10. [illegible] will be so until the new crop [illegible] market. Some parties ask [illegible] with sales at the lowest price. Barley is decidedly easier for the [illegible] Straw continues $17@18 per ton. [illegible]

The Story of a Nose; a Scene at a Masquerade.

FROM THE SPANISH OF DON MANUEL BRETON DE LOS HERREROS.

'Will you allow me to join you, fair lady?'

'With pleasure, and thanks for your preference of me among all the beauty that sparkles here. Do you know me?'

'Until now, no; and it is possible that I might say the same were you to remove your mask. But what of that? The intercourse of a masquerade is not the most unpleasant in the world.'

'No, but it often ends in terrible disappointment.'

'I cannot deny that I have experienced that; still—'

'And caused it also?'

'He can deceive little who habitually appears at all places, not excepting the great balls of the carnival, with uncovered face. In fact, you perceive there is no concealment about me; that cannot be said of all men. Thanks, lovely lady. You know me, then, do you not.'

'Yes, by sight. They say you are a poet; will you make me some verses?'

'Certainly, if you wish; for it is always my delight to please the fair; but first let me know your name.'

'Give me any name you please; Phillis, Laura, Philona; any that is sweet and poetical. I should not tell you my true one, but the first one that occurred to me, therefore you would better suit yourself.'

'But unless I behold at least the face whose perfections I am to extol, unless I know the sweet source of my inspiration—'

'Was that a poet who spoke? You who live in the boundless regions of fancy, what need have you of the material presence of the objects of your adoration? For my part I do not think so highly of my face, nor so meanly of your imagination as to unmask.'

'And what pleasure do you promise yourself in beholding my face?'

'That of admiration; if it be as lovely as I guess—that of adoration.'

'It is always that word—adoration!—You poets deserve to be banished from every well constituted and Christian state.'

'Why, my fair one?'

'If you speak the truth, for your idolatry; if the contrary, for your blasphemy. You may well do without a mask. Poets do not need it in order to lie. They are always false enough.'

'If so, for my own part, I accept with much pleasure a quality which assimilates me so near to the fair sex.'

'So women are false, you think?'

'I do, my fair mask. And, as to that, I cannot say that you accuse men altogether unjustly: it must be acknowledged that the jealousy and tyranny of men cause your want of sincerity, and that your stratagems are more entitled to indulgence, because you contrive them from a desire to please us.—But is it really true that I am not to see your face?'

'You are not, indeed. The desire to please you leads me to preserve my mask.'

'Your conversation enchants me, and every word increases my impatience to know you.'

'Perhaps you are impatient to see my face because you think it is full of perfections. But did you not at first call me the sweet source of your inspiration? Believe me, your interest and mine are opposed to granting the favor which you solicit. Whilst I remain concealed, I shall be sure of hearing from your mouth such flattering words as perhaps I am not accustomed to. Should I take from my face its protecting veil, farewell illusion! Stiff courtesies and gloomy seriousness would take the place of praises and endearments, and the tender persistence which, while I do not yield, keeps me at least diverted and content.'

'This modesty strikes me as the greatest proof of your charms.'

'Yes, if I lack other things, I have at least the merit of modesty—I speak foolishly—of sincerity.'

'Were it possible to confound you with the crowd of women, I might believe it.—The carnival is nothing else than the reverse of the medal, the world; and doubtless the figures in the shadow which seem to invite deception, feign less than those upon its face. It is so seldom that truth can be spoken with impunity.'

'Yet you—'

'You are not ugly; I could swear to that. Frequent deceptions and disenchantments have taught me tact and skill in detecting maskers. You cannot foil me so easily. I have a good nose!' (Sp. idiom for 'I am a good judge.')

On pronouncing the last word, I observed in my companion's face a movement of surprise and, as I thought, displeasure. Believing that the common phrase which I had thoughtlessly made use of, had disgusted her refined ears, I hastened to make my excuses for not having expressed myself better; upon which the lady laughed, and taking my hand assured me with the most consummate grace that she willingly pardoned so trivial a slip of the tongue. I continued: 'There is only one reason why I should be very sorry to have you unmask.'

'What is that?'

'Because then I could no longer talk to you freely. Would it not grieve me to renounce this affectionate familiarity which the carnival balls permit? Now I speak to you as a familiar friend, a visitor, a betrothed, a beloved one.'

'Well, then, if I should be so indiscreet as to unmask, you would be as eager to forsake me, and would hardly stay for a cold and formal "your most obedient!"'

'How you mortify me! Do you then think me capable of such impoliteness? Suppose for a moment that you were ugly, horrible. Could you lay aside, with the mask which so tantalizes me, the charms of your conversation, your bewitching voice, the affability which captivates me, and the grace which fills me with admiration? How could a woman with such gifts want attractions? If your face is plain I can well bear it.'

'You say so. But would you be more indulgent than the rest of mankind? Would you be less influenced by selfish considerations? For ugliness is considered by the most of men a woman's greatest crime.'

'O, I am of another species, or else you slander the sex, lady. If you don't believe me, untie that mask which interferes with my happiness, and you shall see how, far from growing cool, my ardor will increase. Do not think my proposal presumptuous.—For in what can that deformity consist, with which you try to frighten me? Do I not discern the languid grace of your form? Am I not already bewitched by your pretty little foot? Do not the glances of those enchanting eyes pierce my very heart? And have I not caught glimpses of your heavenly mouth?'

'Nevertheless, with all these beauties which you have extolled, I assure you that I am frightfully ugly, and that you would be struck with horror should I unmask.'

'No, no! it is impossible. Your form, your features—'

'Have you beheld them all?'

'I think so. The nose is the only one—' Here the lady interrupted me with a burst of laughter.

'You are merry. Is it then a flat one or a long one?'

'How can I tell? No, you must guess again.'

'No, it is not possible that an ugly nose should spoil the effect of so many charms.—Moreover I accept the consequences of the favor I beg. With that mouth, those eyes, that incomparable form, let the nose be flat or long, I care not.'

'Imprudent man!'

'Must I beseech you on my knees? Will you make me the sport of the ball room?'

'Well, well, that will do. Since you desire it so much, you shall see my face. How weak we women are!'

'Shall I? Oh happiness too great to be expressed! ye mortals! Give me your lyre, O muses. At this moment I would be Pindar, Tyrtaeus.'

'At this moment you are a fool!'

'Pity my impatience — shorten my suspense; ah! there it is! Beauti—. I could not finish the word, such was my astonishment, horror! What a nose! WHAT A NOSE! WHAT A NOSE! I could never have believed that nature was capable of carrying to such an extent hyperbole and amplification. It was not a human nose, it was a beet-root, a cutlass, an Egyptian pyramid.

Amid the confusion which this sudden change of scene caused, my chief desire was to escape from the long-nosed lady without incurring the charge of rudeness. I made incredible efforts to utter some complimentary phrases. Impossible! Had I beheld my face in a mirror at that moment, it would have been the face of an idiot! Happily for me, my companion, who doubtless has learned resignation to her deformity and its consequences, laughed pleasantly, I knew not whether at my discomfiture or her misfortune. This gave me confidence to quit her under pretext of accosting a friend, and without daring to look at her again, I took my leave, saying gaily, 'Your most obedient.'

Shame lent wings to my feet; rage blinded me; I could not fly fast enough; I stumbled over furniture and people, I would have gone straight home without waiting for my carriage or my cloak, had I not been terribly hungry. I hastened to the refreshment room, seated myself at a table, looked thro' the bill of fare, and selected what could be brought most quickly. I tasted three or four different dishes, but anger spoiled their relish, and I was about to try a fifth, when, behold! whom should I see before me but the same lady, or to speak more exactly, the same nose, which had so shocked me a few minutes before. My first impulse was to rise and fly, but the laughing lady petrified me by saying in tones of aggravating sweetness:—

'How, are you running away in order not to treat me with a supper.

I was disconcerted—fool that I was. The nose smiled, and for my still greater disturbance, so did the gallant who accompanied her, doubtless in order to protect her from my rage.

'Senora.'

'I am not very hungry. I will take a Roman punch; nothing more.'

Such impudence provoked me almost beyond endurance. I resolved to be revenged upon her.

'I should be most happy to comply with your request, Senora, but I fear lest your nose should usurp the functions of your mouth. If you had not unmasked I do not know how—I may as well speak plainly.—You cannot drink with that. Excuse me.'

'How? What did you say? Well then,' and upon that she took hold of her nose and pulled it off.

Sinner that I am! it was false, it was made of pasteboard, and now I saw the real one, not less beautiful and perfect than the other features of her face. How shall I describe my shame, my despair, at the sight of this lovely creature, and the remembrance of the fickleness, rudeness, and wickedness of my own conduct? I begged a thousand pardons, I deplored my error, I threw myself on the ground and kissed the dust beneath her feet, but the cruel fair one took the arm of her companion, flashed on me a withering look of scorn, and departed, coolly saying, "Fare you well."

PERUVIAN SYRUP,

OR PROTECTED

Solution of Protoxide of Iron,

Has been used with Great Success in Curing

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhea, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well authenticated, and of such peculiar character, that sufferers cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. The facts are tangible, the witnesses accessible, and the safety and efficacy of the Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN; and this solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M D.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless, until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1858, page 70.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER.

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr H. Anders & Co, Physicians and Chemists, New York.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters,

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

From the army hospital—the bloody battle-field—the mansion of the rich and humble abode of the poor—from the office and the sacred desk—from the mountain top, distant valleys and far-off islands of the ocean—from every nook and corner of the civilized world—is pouring in the evidence of the astonishing effects of DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS. Thousands upon thousands of letters like the following may be seen at our office.

[illegible], Wis., Sept. 16, 1864.

"* * * I have been in the army hospitals for fourteen months—speechless and nearly dead. At Alton, Ill., they gave me a bottle of Plantation Bitters. * * * Three bottles restored my speech and cured me.
C. A. FLAUTE."

SOUTH WARSAW, O., July 28, 1863.

"* * * One young man, who had been sick and not out of the house for two years with Scrofula and Erysipelas, after paying the doctors over $150 without benefit, has been cured by a bottle of your Bitters.
EDWARD WOUNALL.

The following is from the manager of the Union Home School for the Children of Volunteers.

HAVEMEYER MANSION, FIFTY-SEVENTH STREET,
NEW YORK, August 2, 1863.

"Dr. DRAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Bitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in her head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite and strength rapidly increased, and she is now well. * * Respectfully MRS. O. M. DEVOE."

"* * * I owe much to you for I verily believe the Plantation Bitters have saved my life.
REV. W. H. WAGGONER, Madrid, N. Y."

"* * * Thou wilt send me two bottles more of thy Plantation Bitters. My wife has been greatly benefited by their use.
Thy friend, ASA CURRIN, Philadelphia, Pa."

"* * * I have been a great sufferer from dyspepsia, and had to abandon preaching. * * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me.
REV. J. S. CATHORN, Rochester, N. Y.

"* * * Send us twenty-four dozen more of your Plantation Bitters, the popularity of which are daily increasing with the guests of our house.
SYKES, CHADWICK & CO.,
Proprietors Willard's Hotel, Washington, D. C.

"* * * I have given the Plantation Bitters to hundreds of our disabled soldiers with the most astonishing effect.
G. W. ANDREWS,
Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Cincinnati, O.

"* * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of liver complaint, of which I was laid up prostrate and had to abandon my business. H. B. KINGSLEY, Cleveland, O."

"* * * The Plantation Bitters have cured me of a derangement of the kidneys and urinary organs that has distressed me for years. It acts like a charm.
C. C. MOORE, 254 Broadway, N. Y.

etc. etc. etc. etc. etc.

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafras, Roots, Herbs, &c. all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure and harmless.

NOTICE.—Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and impostor. It is put up only in our patent log cabin bottle. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our private United States Stamp over the cork unmutilated, and signature on steel plate side label.

Sold by respectable dealers throughout the habitable globe.
